In Favor of Repealing and Replacing Common Core

These days, I hear much about education that doesn't sound much like true education. Curriculum companies, software companies, and social engineers are seeming to get first dibs at what should be happening in our kids' schools. The schools should work for the parents! More and more I'm hearing that private information is at risk. Also, that our kids are being taught to pass a test, instead of truly being given a well rounded education. It seems like indoctrination of certain beliefs and goals is the main objective, whether or not they are true or noble.

Such an uproar that has been heard over the last few years over Common Core doesn't stem from thin air. There are reasons for it. Parents know their kids best and know better than anyone what is right and workable for them.

Parents and other citizens of the State of Michigan are asking for Common Core to be repealed and replaced. That is what I'm asking for. You work for the people. Please do as we ask.
